

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system for grouping records of charges associated with provision of services to an entity to support reimbursement monitoring includes an acquisition processor for acquiring data related to charges for services provided to the entity. A data processor is 5 coupled to the acquisition processor and to a source of rules. The data processor groups the charges using the rules to provide a reimbursable amount value and creates a record containing data representing the grouped charges and the reimbursable amount value.